Problem Statement

Develop a C++ program to represent offices as vertices and possible fiber-optic links as weighted edges. Apply Prim's algorithm to connect all offices with minimum total cable cost.

A. Modify the program to update an edge weight and apply Prim's algorithm again.

B. Modify the program to display every selected edge with its weight and the running total cost.

C. Modify the program to detect a disconnected graph and report whether a spanning tree can be formed.