PROBLEM STATEMENT

To develop a Food Order Management System using a Singly Linked List in C++ that allows users to add new food orders, display all orders, and complete orders by deleting the first node. The system maintains orders dynamically using linked-list operations and provides a menu-driven interface for efficient order management.